Sycamore Society

The Sycamore Society is an organization that was established for the purpose of capturing and documenting the history and charm of Carter Plantation. The idea was developed by several of the talented women in Carter Plantation. The Sycamore Society is designed to be a non-profit entity that will develop revenue streams through fund raising, renting of the Carter House for special events and applying for federal and state grants. We are attempting to broker an agreement with the CDD that will satisfy the many requirements when applying for grant money. The establishment of this society is another step in identifying and preserving the rich history of Carter Plantation. During the coming months you will see the Sycamore Society at Carter Plantation revealing many historical facts about Carter Plantation that not many people know. So stay tuned and please give us all your support.

Civil War

The Carter House hosted the Civil War re-enactors as part of their activities in Springfield this March. The ladies had tea and cookies while listening to a presentation. The gentlemen had an evening of cigars and whiskey.

They regaled us with stories about the local Civil War battles.

Re-enactment at the

They are looking forward to returning to the Plantation in September for their next re-enactment.

Carter House

Mark your calendars for September 17.

Plantation Opines:

letters to the editor

The Attrition Rate of Trees “I see, I see, a fallen tree, once stately, proud and tall. Hello poor tree, so sorry, I inquire how did you fall? I bent with wind and rain so hard my bark no longer held. The torture to my trunk extreme, alas my girth was felled. Please cut me up and haul me off or burn me back to ash. I’ll plant three trees in your place and tie them with a sash.” Shomee The attrition rate of trees: a problem with an essential and progressive plan may rectify, if implemented.

Just wanted to vent a little. I was a little disappointed that the 2011 budget did not contain anything (landscaping.lights.etc..) for the Carter Plantation area from the guard building to the Carter brick posts by the Headstart School. It is almost like we are not part of the community. The area with all the green sewer pipes, telephone posts etc...looks barren and unattractive for visitors who travel into the Plantation and could possibly be come homeowners. Maybe in 2012 we can find a little money to spruce up the “grassy knoll” or if possible abandon the access road and have the driveways to Carter Cemetery Road.

From the Editor:

We would like a few more letters for our next edition. It will come out in mid September.
